

Crash on the way to or at work?

At work, it's usually workers compensation. On your commute, usually CTP. Sometimes both. You don't need to know which before you're seen.

1

Tell your employer and the police

Put it in writing to your employer where possible. If police didn't come to the crash, report it to them as soon as you can.

2

See a doctor

A doctor must write your first Certificate of Capacity (workers compensation) and your first Certificate of Fitness (CTP).

3

Call us and say it was a car accident

Our doctors treat the injury and write the certificate each scheme asks for.

Call our team

(02) 7238 7379

Billed to the insurer on accepted claims.

Scan for the full guide

Display next to your workplace's official notice. We are not SIRA, icare or an insurer.

Sources

SIRA, workers compensation claims guide: www.sira.nsw.gov.au/workers-compensation-claims-guide

SIRA, motor accident injury insurance (CTP): www.sira.nsw.gov.au/claiming-compensation/motor-accident-injury-insurance

SIRA, Certificates of Fitness (CTP): www.sira.nsw.gov.au/health-providers/certificates-of-fitness-for-motor-crash-injuries

Road Rules 2014 (NSW) r 287: classic.austlii.edu.au/au/legis/nsw/consol_reg/rr2014104/s287.html